

Mr. Teboho Mabula (HI 0074047) is an Environmental Health Practitioner by profession, with over 18 years of experience in the field and administration. Teboho Mabula is very much Skilled in food safety, communicable disease control, management of human remains, port health services, water quality monitoring, malaria disease control program. previously worked at National Department of Health as Chief Port Health Officer, Currently serving under free state department of Health: Directorate Health Support. I am a member of National Association for Environmental Health South Africa (NAEHSA) and elected to be it's first president for free state province.

I remain committed in promoting Environmental Health, empowering communities, developing future professionals and advancing sustainable public health interventions that protect and improve health of all communities and addressing real world public health challenges.