

Professional Biography: Malefetsane Tsolo

Malefetsane Tsolo is the Infection Prevention and Control Program Coordinator for Fezile Dabi District in Free State Province, South Africa. With an accomplished 30-years career as a professional nurse, he has built a reputation for strengthening Clinical systems, improving IPC compliance, and leading district wide initiatives that enhance patient safety and healthcare quality.

In his current role, Malefetsane oversees IPC program implementation across Fezile Dabi District, guiding facilities in surveillance, outbreaks preparedness, risk assessment and adherence to national IPC standards. He collaborates with multidisciplinary teams to build capacity, strengthen reporting systems, and ensure that healthcare workers are equipped to prevent and manage infections effectively. His work contributes directly to safer clinical environment and patient outcomes. Driven by integrity, accountability and commitment to public health.